

WE NOMINATE

Kathleen Mongomety Edwards, a deeply concerned and dynamic Princetonian, who was in large measure responsible for last Saturday's highly successful Job Fete, described by an appreciative observer as 'one of the most satisfying, exhibitanting and worthwhile community efforts 1 have ever participated in." While the carefully planned Fete was jointly sponsored by the John-Witherspoon Civic Association and the YWCA, and involved almost 100 adult leaders in three municipalities, it was this diminutive, outspoken president of the John-Witherspoon Association who conceived the undertaking, helped with all phases of its organization and once again demonstrated that the ranks among the truly effective, dedicated friends of Princeton Youth.

The avowed objective of the Fete, the first event of its kind in Central New Jersey, was 100 summer jobs lor young people, black and white. With some 40 Jobs in hand even before the Fete opened its doors on Saturday, it is now apparent that Mrs. Edwards and her associates have met their goal. Altogether 121 young men and women, including some 45 blacks, "went through the line" and all 23 firms represented in the booths expressed at day's end "a 100 per cent positive and enthlusiastic response." One, for instance, hoped to find three Negro boys and did; another found exactly the youngster needed for a "skill-type job."

Mrs. Edwards, the mother of four and the wife of a professional soldier, Richard E. Edwards, currently rounding out a quarter-century of distinguished military service as a Sergeant Major in Viet Nam, believes that "Sell-help, motivation, education and economics are the vital things for a Negro kid, She sees summer employment programs serving a three-fold purpose; hesides money, it gives kids the discipline of a working experience, it teaches them individual responsibility, and gives them a needed reference when the next employer says, 'where did you work before?' " However, in practice, she doesn't differentiate between races and emphasizes "this is for all our children in the Princeton community."

Bon in South Carolina 43 years ago, but a lifelong resident of Princeton, whose father was a well-known and beloved member of the Borough of Princeton's Engineering Department, Mrs. Edwards has remained Princeton-oriented during her travels with her husband which have enabled her to study at Temple and Kansas State Universities, She has been a United States government employee for some 24 years and for the past two summers as a senior Administrative Assistant at Fort Dix has on her own originated and administered "Operation Bootstrap" that Lats summer made it possible for 26 hoys and girls, all residents of the John-Wilterspoon neighborhood, to hold full-time jobs in Fort Dix's Ammunition Depot, Hospital and Directorate of Supplies,

Unalterably opposed to the regionalization of Princeton's schools, Mrs. Edwards, a member of Trinity Episcopal Church, is deeply interested in the schools and in all facets of Princeton life, It was her proposal last month to have selected Princeton High School students attend vocational classes in Trenton High School, thereby gaining a "double-barrelled diploma" — in a trade from Trenton and a general diploma from Princeton,

For commanding the respect of all who work with her, including a senior municipal official who contends: "She treats me like a naughty little bry;" for serving as a "yeal idea dynamo" in her areas of concern; for insisting that blacks and whites can never be a "divided Princeton community;" she is TOWN TOPICS' monince as "...in the Destiny of America"

If the annual national holiday on May 30 appeared on the calendars of all churches, synagogues and schools as a day of high obligation, each new generation would understand the Memorial Day ceremonics.

At the war monuments and graves of the men and women of the armed forces who have given to their country, and to ours, the last full measure of devotion, the living veterans honor their memory.

Memorial Day is both a day of thanksgiving and of recollection. It is a time to pause, to reflect and to give public thanks for the columns of marching men — who with faith in matering men — who with juita in the destiny of America have carried the flag of hope and freedom down the long, long trail that began at Lexington and Concord.

It is equally a time to be silent and to recall in humble gratitude the brave, bright memory of the sacrifices, the sufferings, the determination, the gallatry and, above all, the immeasurable courage of the Americans who have died - and are dying - in the service of their country.

On the morning of Memorial Day, the national flags fly at half-mast on every American rampart throughout the world – salutes are fired – and taps sounded.

As the final, haunting but curiously comforting notes of taps sound, the sim-ple benediction is found in the words belonging to those notes:

Fades the light And afar goeth day Cometh night And a star leadeth all Speedeth all to their rest.

CREATIVITY IS KEYNOTE To Youth Leadership. The Youth Center's window-on-the-world is the poolroom. Beyond the poolroom, there's

Beyond the poolroom, there's a constant turnover of youth activities, but the poolroom speaks to the street.

This room is the delight of the buys and the dispair of the fund-ralsers. The bare lights showease the players of the cue ball greets a visitor—sights and sounds of idleness to many Princetonians.

To Carl A. Fields, an uld hand at the "youth game," the Center's poolroom makes several significant state ments:

"Kids relate themselves very rigidly to certoin things they find very secure. If they have to settle for something, they settle for something, they settle for something, they settle for the stance. 'At least we can play pool until it comes out for our ears.' And, If nobody can come up with anything, that challenges the 1r interest, they will play pool.

more in the way of expansa-tion?"

As a parent, Mr. Fields helieves that he kept func-tioning with his two now-grown children through the active for more than 20 years in job placement and guidance, working with tem-agers, adults, high school dropouts, veterans and work-ers displaced because of job ohsolescence or automation.

"The age of a youth leader has always been a factor—
I can remember when exact age was debated. What we are really talking about is whether that person has retained the flexibility to tap into the range of the kids' experience.

"If you don't make an effort to keep in touch, by the time you are 24 you have lost them. The kids can seened fissete than you can seened fissete than you can work extremely well with these kids if he has stayed open. They don't expect you to be a peer. Talk about things important to them as they see it. Why don't you might be further along."

Listeners at First. Youth workers, in a rapidly evolving field, need first to become listeners. There's a resistance, Mr. Field notes, to any worker who would come into a community and say worker who would come into a community and say "I'want to help you." Come the answer, "Help me do what?" the answer, what?"

"You determine how you can be helpful, begin to develop ways, a grogramatic point of view or opening up. You try not to develop a feeling of obligation — one of the big obstacles, especially in a s mall town like Princeton."

Youth leaders (and parents) need to work creative, by flexibly, and with an intuitive ear, Mr. Fields has found. "If you can get people to accept your framework of experience, you have control, it is true, but you don't ever free that person to understand and appreciate

He took a hard look at the Princeton Youth Center several months ago, analyzing its role and service. "As I

The basic idea behind youth work is developing responsibility. he adds. "I can't quarrel with what a boy had developed. I can say, 'You can go father than that."

Mae Rockland. A young graphic artist, who studied at lunter College, Alfred University and received degrees from the University of Minnesota, Mae Rockland has recently awarded a medal by the Society of Spanish Graphic Artists. She has now settled in Princeton and is exhibiting her color etchings which she refers to as "landscapes." These are conseinlinested.

to as "landscapes."
These are conscientiously organized and executed. They are abstract and suggestive. Her "Paisaje Vertical" is, in color and design, subite and a odds to its decorative appeal. "Moondrench," with its watery greens, blush pinks and buish casts, is the coolest and most refreshing of the lot. "Morpropriate for this coming season in your garden or gazebo."

PEUGEOT WINS THE RACE THAT TESTS THE CAR NOT THE DRIVER

There's no getting oround it. In this East African Safart Rally, either a car has it, or it doesn't. Most cars don't have it. Peugent does.

Peugeot has the kind of built-in stamina, raw muscle, and endurance to get through 3000 miles of Africa's most wretched countrysider waist-high mud swamps, narrow game trells, washed out roads . . . the whole gruelling works.

Forty-six percent of the cars that started this year's Rally didn't make it, Peugeot came through first. Just like last year.

Peugeot is tough. But his not a tank. Peugeot is a thoroughbed - a graceful on the turngile set it is regued to the implies at the regued in the jungle. GOING, GOING, GOING: A TWO FAMILY HOUSE IN PRINCETON BOROUGH: Shaded by two tall Sycamores and well situated on upper Jefferson Road, this excellent double house would make a smart huy for the canny investor. Sturdily built with plaster walls, a slate roof and aluminum siding, it contains: living room with lireplace, dining room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms, full bath, full basement and easily linished third floor on each side. Two car garage. Rent one side for at least $175 per month and live happily and inexpensively

In the owner's quarters, there are entrance hall, living room with carved stone mantel, dining room with second fireplace and study (all with pegged oak floors) modern kitchen and screened porch on the ground floor. 5 bedrooms and 3 baths (including a two room and bath master suite) upstairs. The completely separate rented portion of the house (income from which pays a large part of the carrying costs of the whole property) consists of entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen and lavalory down, 3 double hedrooms, 3 singles and 3 baths up. Two car garage. Huge hasement and attic. Beautifully landscaped acre in the most desireable location. Owner will arrange generous linaucing for a qualified huyer. Surprisingly little cash is needed to buy this unusual house.

SOMEBODY LOVES ME, I WONDER WHO: will look beyond my slightly peeling paint and see the quality of the slate, plaster and cedar clapboards of which I'm huilt? What's so wonderful about a separate dining room anyway? Frankly they seem like an awful weste of space considering how little they're used. Look at the marvelous glass walled lamily room I have instead! And my living room is BIG, and I have two fireplaces. My kitchen stacks up with the hest of them, and I have 4 bedrooms and 2 baths alter all. To say nothing of the finished playroom in my lower regions and my two car garage. And no one could fail to appreciate my lovely 3/4 acre Princeton Tawnship lot. Bet you can't top me for

DO YOUR OWN THING: Be it modern or traditional, large or small, far out or very in, this lovely wooded, south-sloping $1\frac{1}{2}$ acre lot in the Northwestern Township is just the spot to do it in. ON LOVELY HONEY LAKE \$86,500

Guests will gravitate to a truly inspired kitchensitting room with cozy old mission fireplace, warm wall paper, leaded window kitchen cabinets, unusual island working area with Spanish post light and, to top it all, an electronic oven (a roast ready in 10 minutes).

They might find it hard, however, to leave the lake and woods view thru the Thermopane whi-dow wall from high cellinged living and dining room also with fireplace. Hinge redwood deck with ontdoor fireplace handles entertaining over-flow nicely. We used a rear view picture here so the understated front would not be misleading.

Elegant family room with another fireplace and window seat overlooks the lake as well thru large windows. Master bedroom with fireplace, private deck and dressing room adds more coziness and luxury while a huge fifth bedroom dormitory adds practicality for a large family.

Three compartmented and unusual bathrooms ind unusual bathrooms lend another touch of the originality that s-bounds in this delightful, completely carpeted old brick and redwood home with 3,000 sq. ft. of living area, 2 car garage on 1.38 lakefront acres with boat dock in beautiful Elm Ridge Park. Sales staff:
